The clockmakers were to-day again summoned to attend to the horologic invalid, and it was hoped that before dusk this evening, the ilme-honored hands would again be seen bestirring themselves in their particular line of duty. Can't Dress the Hair on $10 a Year.

Breakfast Ten in Bed.

A New York lady born in the purple, and educated in Japan, has a cup of tea in bed every morning of her life. This "bracer," as she calls it, is seasoned taste. The drinker has the complexion of a peach, skin as smooth as satin, and health that is positively fragrant.

Catching Cold.

Very severe colds are caught indoors, the result of indigestion or foul air. A cold is frequently brought on by cating a hearty dinner, becoming mentally absorbed for two or three hours immediately afterwards and retiring to a warm, close room. The food is not digested. the temperature of the body is raised by the exertions of the stomach, the sleep is broken and the individual rises chilled Had relaxation followed the dinner and the room been supplied with refreshing air everything would have been different.

New York Women and Cobblers. The cobblers of New York have a sad time trying to get a living. People don't have their shoes half-soled any more, and even invisible patches are not to be mentioned. First-class shoe merchants, who handle fine goods, warrant them; if they don't give satisfaction the fair thing is done by the customer. When shoes or boots get shabby or go out of style and the exquisite hasn't ranged according to the latest dictates the $5 or $7 to spare for a new pair she a pair of tide-overs from the bargain

the hands of such a woman? Remember, we are HONOR, Harlem Ice-tream Season Hardships. To the Editor:

I am a reader of "The Evening World," and I would like to know if there cannot be a law passed compelling men that own ice-cream salcons to have day help and night belp. I work in an co-creem parior, and after May 1 we don't have any nights off; we have to work from 8 o'clock in tion of Cruelty to Animals. Well, I think it to cruelty to human beings to make them

ICE-CREAM WAITER, Brooklyn.

A Widow Who Made the Fire. To the Editor: Having read so much in the paper lately about for four years, but I had to make the fire ever s about, as it is the most simple thing in the world to do, but my opinion is that the should make the fire and let her husband sleep until the last minute, for she can take a rest durbushand badly because she is willing to make Bright Woman and the Bigots.

To the Editor: If "glorious woman" is not so glorious after all, as "Pasha" says, and is a "nerrow-minded, bigoted, jealous" creature, he must not forget that "women are what men allow them to be,"

G. D. O. Y. darling than a young man's slave, and that she about not refuse the offer of marriage from her source, so she will regret it in the end. Common sense will tell you that a man's love at twenty-one but of the mothers and matrons of experience and older than I am, and if he were to may
